BOLSTERS HOPE IN EAST

Democrats Still Confident That Empire State Will Support Governor

New York—While this end of the state is a Smith stronghold and it is doubtful whether the Maine election has diminished the governor's friends here, there is no disputing the fact that at the various national headquarters and in the business section the overwhelming victory of the Republicans in Maine has had a telling effect.

Psychological impressions—br-

"breaks" as the vernacular might have it—play an important part in campaigns. And the Maine election was decidedly the best "break" the Republicans have had thus far.It has started a wave of optimism and confidence among the Hoover followers which could hardly have been estimated in advance. Conversely, if the Democratic management had ever suspected the psychological value of keeping that Maine majority down, they would have spent more than the nominal sum of $5,000 in precinct workers to bring out the Democratic vote. Had the Democrats lost by 40,000 or thereabouts the Maine election would have been forgotten in a few days.
As it is, the outcome has given the Republicans a lead that is having a profound influence in this, the political capital of the country, during the campaign.

G. O. P. STIMULATED

Confidence in victory affects the way "financiers" are gathered but it does even more than that—it stimu-lates the workers. And the Hoover organization is going at top speed now with plenty of enthusiasm.This is important from a Republican viewpoint because only recently the undertone was one of discouragement about New York and the big eastern states. To the Hoover people feel they have a good chance to carry New York and an excellent chance in New Jersey though they wag their heads nervously about Massachusetts and Rhode Island.New York City—that is the rank and file outside of the business leaders—is still behind Governor Smith in indecible numbers. The Republicans know they must win upstate if at all and they are concentrating on the upper counties though with a good deal of intensive work planned for New York City.The preliminary surveys would seem to indicate that some gains will be made by the Republicans over their normal vote in the city but the gains Governor Smith will make probably will offset them. The registration of Democrats will be unusually heavy—this is Governor Smith's home town and it will give him an enormous vote. To get a line on New York state, therefore, it is necessary to examine the situation in central New York where the writer will visit next week.

1ST WORLD SERIES GAME

SCHEDULED FOR OCT. 4

New York—The world series of 1928 will start on Thursday, Oct.
4, in the park of the club winning the American league championship.
Commissioner Landis announced here Monday. The date was chosen in preference to Oct. 3 because of the close races in both leagues and the necessity of handling vast numbers of tickets on short notice.

Kickapoo valley Monday and crop damage was estimated at $100,000 as the stream flooded lowlands. The river first overflowed its banks Saturday. No

The river was said to have

POLICE HUNT
SLAYER OF 5Authorities Seek Graves of Boys Tortured Before
They Were MurderedLos Angeles—(P)—An amazing story of torture and the murder of five boys was before Los Angeles police Monday as they renewed search on the George Cyrus North-cott "murder farm" near Riverside for graves of the supposed victims of Gordon Sutart Northcott, 21, a fugitive.

The elder Northcott early Monday

questioned the reported killings, the elder

Northcott, held in custody here, finally opened up Sunday night, police said, and "talking like a streak," unfolded a gruesome account of some of the acts of his son, whom he described in appearance as resembling an ape.

The elder Northcott early Monday

led police to the garage on the small Northcott ranch near Riverside, and search for the corpses ofthree of the supposed victims was begun under a concrete floor.

BRING MURDER CHARGE

Riverside authorities have announced complaints charging murder will be filed against young

Northcott, and his mother, Mrs.

Louise Northcott, who, the father said, was the only person having any control over the youth, and who is believed to have been an accomplice in the suspected murders.The elder Northcott told the police that his son and grandson, Sanford, 15, now held by the authorities, had told him of the murders, but that he did not believe their stories.

First reports of the "murder

farm" were given police by young

Clark. He said young Northcott had forced him to aid in one of the slayings. Four of the victims, he said, were young boys kidnapped in suburbs of Los Angeles in the past few months, and held and abused at the farm before they were put to death.

While Riverside investigators

Sunday scoured the Northcott farm in search of the bodies of three boys and a Mexican youth whom Clark said, "young Northcott had slain, one officer uncovered a half dozen bones, still linked with flesh and skin, and a toe-nail believed from the foot of a 10-year-old boy.

Saskatoon, Sask.—(P)—The

15-year-old boy who told the California police a story of a "murder farm" at Riverside, Calif., at which he alleges three boys were slain and tortured, has been identified here as Sanford Clarke, a Saskatoon resident, whose father, John Clarke, a farmer, lives on the outskirts of this city. The mother is employed in a local department store. They are separated.

Mrs. George Cyrus Northcott, wife of the man on whose Riverside ranch the murders are supposed to have been perpetrated, is said to have been seen here as late as last Thursday.

Phone 543Body Of Deckhand Taken
From River At KimberlyPeter Lemssen, Little Chute, deckhand on the government tug, Ne-nah, was drowned in the Fox river near the Cedar locks at Kimberly late Sunday night or Monday morning. The body was found about 1 o'clock Monday afternoon by government employees who dragged the river when a search failed to reveal any trace of the man. The body was found near where the tug had been tied up during the night.

Lemssen was last seen Sunday night when he left the tug, Monday morning when he failed to show up it was believed he had stayed at Li-tle Chute or Kimberly over night.

However, investigation showed he had been at neither place and the search was instituted.The man was working with the government crew which is dredging
the river at Drunkard's point, south of Kimberly. The tugs have been tying up at the locks nights.When a coroner's inquest will be held to investigate the drowning, it will be determined Monday afternoon by District Attorney John Lonsdorf, Assistant District Attorney Stanley Staidl and Dr. H. E.

FAMINE'S GRIP
AFTER STORMMore Than 1,000 Persons
Believed Dead—Millions Homeless, EstimateSan Juan, Porto Rico—(P)—With
the hurricane death toll conservatively estimated at 1,000, the spectre of famine stalked through Porto Rico Monday. At least 300,000 persons were stated to be hungry.
Disease was threatened.

Half of the island's population of almost 2,000,000 was thought to be homeless. It was feared that the property damage would pass $100,000,000.Declaration of martial law, requisitioning and rationing of food and drafting of all able-bodied men was urged upon Governor Horace M.

Townier by a group of leading citizens.The national guard has been ordered out to protect property from looters. Efforts were made to stop profiteering.Nine of the island's 77 towns reported more than 250 dead. Others reported no loss of life and communication with others lacking. It will be weeks before accurate reports can be received from the rural section in which more than 70 per cent of the people live.

NO AMERICANS KILLED

Physicians and others familiar with conditions said that a death toll with 1,000 as a final figure was a conservative estimate. No continental Americans have been reported either killed or injured.Most of the food crops were destroyed. Half of the homes were destroyed or damaged beyond repair. Probably the most seriously situated were the "divaros," the poor country folk, numbering nearly 1,000,000 who have no reserve resources.Joaquin Villanueva, a university instructor said the country people were coming into town by hundreds begging for food. Hard pressed merchants gave them as much as they were able.Paul Maloney, who motored from Naguabo on the east coast, said a man with a bag of rice, a bag of beans and a side of pork was literally mobbed by 250 homeless and hungry people at Naguabo Playa.The petitioners asserted that while all organizations, government officials and employees and citizens generally were ready and eager to cooperate in a plan for relief, they were still awaiting assignments for duty.Governor Townier urged the secretary of war to send immediate funds in whatever amount available and more when possible. He asserted the island had suffered the worst hurricane ever recorded in the West Indies and that facts "are worse than have been reported."The governor also urged presidential approval for a general appeal for aid through the American Red Cross and asked that a Red Cross rehabilitation unit be sent to Porto Rico.A careful check on damage resulted in an estimate of $65,000,000, with many items unlisted. These,
it was believed, would increase the damage above $100,000,000.The itemized list of estimated losses was: Coffee crop, $10,000,000;
coffee trees, $10,000,000; sugar cane
crop, $20,000,000; sugar factories, $5-6,000,000; citrus crop, including loss and damage, $5,000,000; rice, $5,000,000;
bacco, $5,000,000; mining, $5,000,000; $50,000,000; Porto Rico railway, light and power company, $3,000,000; and telephone and telegraph, $2,000,000.

Rockford Death Trap In Wake Of Tornado

By a daring midnight auto ride along roads that were choked with the storm's debris, a correspondent brought this first picture out of Rockford, Ill., where 30 were reported killed and many injured by a tornado. It was rushed to Chicago and there placed on the telephoto wires.The picture shows the ruins of the Rockford Cabinet Co., where the death toll was the heaviest. The fury of the twister tossed freight cars against the walls of the four-story factory, as shown here. Property loss ran into millions.Tiptoe Inn

Hurricane Blows Across Florida Peninsula and Heads for Gulf

BULLETIN

New Orleans—(P)—General desolation from Pampano to the Palm Beaches in Florida by the hurricane was reported Monday by Hall Leyshon, news editor of the Miami
Daily News, in a dispatch to the Associated Press by the tropical radio.

By the Associated Press

Striking a destructive blow at the Palm Beaches Sunday night after spreading death and devastation through Porto Rico and other islands of the West Indies, the tropical hurricane Monday was blowing across the Florida peninsula toward the gulf of Mexico.Wire communications were down or temporarily disrupted over a wide area along the Florida east coast and in the south central portion.The reports of casualties and heavy property damage were received from Palm Beach and West Palm Beach via amateur radio operators who picked up messages which they sent were signed by Station 4AFC, a Palm Beach amateur.One message, received at Jacksonville by Gifford Grange, licensed operator, stated that an undetermined number of persons had been injured, and many homes wrecked.

HOSPITAL DAMAGED

A hospital at the Red Cross had made a temporary hospital in the Pennsylvania hotel because the hospital there had been partially destroyed.Another message, stating that two persons had been killed and fifty injured was picked up by station 4BN at Tampa. The message also stated that many buildings in the business district of West Palm Beach were damaged.Meanwhile, relief parties proceeded into the area from Miami, but lingering of what conditions they found there had come to the outside world because the section was without wire communications.Red Cross units were mobilized for service at several other points of the district now being made demand aid.Added to the estimated death list of 1,000 in Porto Rico was the threat of famine and disease and the Washington government, spurred by President Coolidge, took steps during the day to dispatch relief.

COMMUNITY ISOLATED

Tampa, Fla.—(P)—A wireless dispatch from West Palm Beach, picked up by station 4BN here says two persons were killed and fifty injured
as a result of the West Indian storm that isolated that vicinity Sunday night. The message was received from station 4AFC and was signed
"Climax."It added that an unconfirmed report from Boynton, south of there said 40 persons were buried in a school building which collapsed. Another report from Deshville said several Negroes were dead.Many buildings in the business district of West Palm Beach were damaged, the message added.At 7 o'clock Monday morning the wind was blowing at 20 miles here,
the sky was overcast and an occasional rain squall came from the north. The barometer reading at that hour was 29.60, a drop of 27 points in four hours.The steamer Cuba, due to sail Sunday for Havana with passengers and freight, was anchored in Tampa bay, to remain until storm danger is past, according to Peninsular and Occidental Steamship company offices.

5,928 ATTENDING SCHOOL IN CITY, REPORTS INDICATE

Public School Enrollment Totals 3,965 — Parochial Schools Have 1,619

The total enrollment in Appleton schools is 5,928, according to the official report. Of this number 3,965 are enrolled in the public schools, 1,619 in the parochial schools, and 344 in the Evangelical Lutheran schools. The public school enrollment according to grades is as follows: Washington, 463; Franklin, 278; Lincoln, 145; besides 19 in the opportunity room and eight in the deaf school; Columbus, 232; McKinley, 240; Richmond, 218; First Ward, 397; Jefferson, 318; McKinley Junior high, 84; Wilson Junior high, 429; Roosevelt Junior high, 442; and Appleton high school, 832. The total enrollment in public schools this year shows an increase of 65 students over last year, despite the fact that the opening of St. Theresa school drew many students away from the public schools. The number of pupils enrolled at St. Joseph school is 736 as compared with 890 last year, and the enrollment at Sacred Heart is 210, the same number as last year. St. Mary has 355, and St. Theresa, the new parochial school, has 318. The opening of the new school is partly responsible for the decreased enrollment at St. Joseph school. The enrollment at St. Mathew school is 40, as against 41 last year; 184 at St. Paul, as compared to 179 in 1927, and 120 at Zion Lutheran, the same number as last year.

SUPERIOR HOST TO 25,000 TOURISTS

Presence of Coolidge in District Brought Only 10,000 Additional Visitors

Superior—(P)—President Coolidge and the Brule brought more than 25,000 tourists to the Superior district in the course of the summer season which now is closing according to figures compiled by the Superior Public Affairs committee and the Wisconsin Highway commission. When announcement was made that the President would summer at Cedar Island lodge, predictions of thousands of persons coming to Superior and vicinity were made. While this was not borne out, officials say that 10,000 more persons were near here this year than in 1927.

With the presidential party in Washington, the interest has not flickered, for since Sept. 1, 125 automobiles with an average of six persons to a car, have used the municipal tourist camp.

Persons getting information from the affairs booth, registered, and officials say that there were 1,147 signers. The average party was four persons. The committee gave 3,000 maps to the information booth at Superior and dispensed to tourists 6,000 maps of Wisconsin, 4,000 of Minnesota, 1,000 Upper Peninsula maps, and 4,000 Brule trip maps and other tourist literature.

From inquiries received at the information booths, officials estimate that 26,250 tourists have been through the district. An average of 75 cents a person was expended in Superior, it is said, meaning that Superior merchants are $19,000 richer through the tourist influx.

INVITE HIGHWAY GROUP TO CHAMBER MEETING

Members of the Outagamie-co highway committee have been invited to a meeting of the road committee of the Appleton Chamber of Commerce Friday noon, Oct. 12, at Conway hotel, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. Mr. Brusewitz received the invitation Wednesday from Kenneth G. Corbett, secretary of the chamber of commerce, and H. A. Schlitz, chairman of the road committee. The two groups will discuss the highway situation in the county.

HOTELS ARE WARNED TO WATCH CHECK ARTIST

Police here have been asked to warn local hotels to be careful about cashing checks for a man purporting to be an employee of the Willard Storage Battery company. He usually sends mail to a hotel and when he arrives his name is familiar to the clerk. He opens his mail and attached to one letter is check and the letter compliments him on his sales. Then he either asks to have the check cashed at once or he waits until a little later. The checks usually are drawn on the Savings and Trust company of Cleveland, O. The warning was issued by the protective department of the Wisconsin State Hotel association.

Y. M. C. A. GETS READY FOR OPENING IN FALL

Final arrangements are being made at the Y. M. C. A. preparatory to fall opening. The billiard and pool tables are being reconditioned, and the bowling alleys are being repaired. The gymnasium floor has been oiled and as soon as it is ready the basketball and volleyball courts will be marked, according to A. F. Jensen, physical director.

VOTERS STILL HAVE TIME TO REGISTER

Unregistered voters still have time to register and become eligible to vote at the November election, according to Carl Becker, city clerk. Voters who failed to turn out for the primary last week and who are not registered should report to the city clerk's office. Any other information concerning the election also is available there. A number of local residents already have registered since the primary election.

How To Play Bridge

BY Milton C. Work

When the partner of a No Trump has a five-card Major in which there is considerable strength, it is a doubtful question regardless of the remainder of his hand, whether the combined hands will play better at No Trump or at the suit, it is about an even chance, with hands which will produce game at one or the other but not at both, as to which will do so. When a player has a strong five-card Major suit with or without strength on the side, or even a comparatively weak five-card Major suit with strength on the side, he cannot tell—no matter how keen he may be—whether the twenty-six cards of the two hands will work better at No Trump or at the Major suit; but if he is permitted to say to the No Trump bidding partner: "I have five cards of the Major I am bidding and a hand that affords material help for your No Trump," the No Trump bidder always will be in position to determine without question which declaration will be better for the combined hands. He is not allowed to make that statement in words, but he can do so by bidding conventionally.

Suppose Dealer bid one No Trump

and the next player pass, and Dealer's partner held:

Hand 1: ♠-J-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1
Hand 2: ♠-K-Q-J-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1
Hand 3: ♠-A-K-Q-J-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1
Hand 4: ♠-A-K-Q-J-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1

The partner should pass if Suit No. 1 were a Minor, but should bid two of that suit if a Major. And this would work out all right because

ENGINE DERAILED WHEN RAILS SPREAD

Locomotive of Chicago and Northwestern Line Leaves Tracks in Lumber Yard

A Chicago and Northwestern switch engine, derailed in the Helin, r Lumber company yards about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, caused railroad employees a lot of trouble and gave them a new experience in untangling a locomotive from rails and ties. It is believed that an overloaded freight car passing over a new section of siding, spread the rails.

Much difficulty was experienced in getting the engine back on the rails. Workmen had to contend with a new section of asphalt pavement at the crossing on N. Division-st., and a new rail bed which was soft because of recent rains. After maneuvering for two hours with another switch engine and various steel and wood blocks, the locomotive was put back on the tracks.

Several lengths of steel rail were damaged, and ties were split and torn from the roadbed. The ground along the tracks was ripped up and section crews will be kept busy renovating the spot. The pavement on W. Franklin and N. Division-sts was not damaged.

APPLETON HAS LOW INFANT MORTALITY RATE, SURVEY SHOWS

44 Babies Died of Every 1,000 Born Here During 1927, Tabulation Reveals

The infant mortality death rate in Appleton during 1927 was 44, according to the annual tabulations for 716 cities of the United States above 10,000 population published by the American Child Health association. This means that 44 babies died during the first year of life for every 1,000 babies born.

Madison, with a rating of 38, had the lowest urban infant death rate in the state. In 1926 Oshkosh, with 56, held the lowest rate.

The combined infant death rate for the 21 Wisconsin cities above 10,000 population was 61. This compares with 74 in 1926, and with a rate of 64.9 in 1927 for all 716 cities in the country. In 1927 Wisconsin ranked twelfth of 39 states in the birth registration area. The lowest rate was held by North Dakota with 46. Washington and Oregon follow with 47 each.

The 1927 infant mortality rates for Wisconsin cities are announced as follows: Ashland, 77; Beloit, 50; Eau Claire, 49; Fond du Lac, 44; Green Bay, 63; Janesville, 44; Kenosha, 53; LaCrosse, 63; Madison, 38; Manitowish, 73; Marinette, 79; Milwaukee, 68; Oshkosh, 52; Racine, 52; Sheboygan, 60; Stevens Point, 63; Superior, 60; Wausau, 54; Wausau, 55; and West Allis, 61.

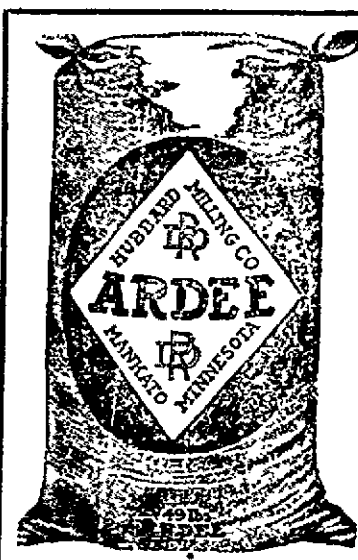

The 716 cities of the United States have a total population of more than 44,000,000. Among the large cities, the lowest rate was 41, for Seattle, and of the small cities, between 25,000 and 50,000, the lowest was Alameda, Calif., which recorded the unusually low rate of 9. In the smallest population group, 10,000 to 25,000, Summit, N. J., had the low rate of 15.

As for several years, the largest cities as a group showed the lowest infant mortality rate in 1927. The decline in the urban infant mortality rates in 1927 over 1926 is universal. Twelve cities had rates below 30. At the other extreme are two cities with rates 150 or over.

MARRIAGE IS ANNULLED
ON CHARGE OF FRAUD

Neenah—Marriage of Donald E. Forcier of Neenah and Faith Forcier of Red Wing, Minn., was annulled Saturday by order of Judge McDonald in county court. The husband, the plaintiff, appeared alone in court. It was alleged the marriage was procured by fraud, and that Forcier was at that time a minor and could not be legally married under the laws of Illinois. The testimony revealed that the parties met at Milwaukee. Following the marriage, they resided for a time at Milwaukee and later came to Neenah. The defendant is now at Red Wing. A question was raised as to the residence of the plaintiff in the state of Wisconsin. The testimony showed he had not been a resident two years, as required in divorce proceedings. The judge held that for the purpose of an annulment, his residence was established, the statutes providing merely that one of the parties must be a bona fide resident of the state.

Speed Of Winds Is Complex
Problem For Weatherman

Washington—Of all the elements on which the weather bureau collects comparable data for the information of seamen, engineers, aviators, farmers and the public in general, wind velocities present one of the most difficult problems.

Improvements have recently been made in methods for measuring these velocities and new instruments are being installed at observation points, but Charles F. Marvin, chief of the bureau, recognizes the problem as one of such great complexity that many years of research probably will be necessary before an ideal solution can be worked out.

Until this year, the wind velocity records have been made with anemometers equipped with four cups on cross arms which, in the case of winds moving at less than 10 miles an hour and progressively exceeded the speed of winds having velocities greater than 15 or 20 miles, necessitating intricate calculations to arrive at the actual condition.

The new anemometers, with only three slightly larger cups, and several other refinements in mechanism, have proved accurate up to very high velocities, in which range small corrective allowances can easily be made.

The real problem, Professor Marvin, is to find a way to reduce all of the observations, made under widely varied conditions, to a comparable basis. The difficulty here lies in the local physical conditions which affect wind velocities and directions near the earth, and no standard formula for bringing the records into line with each other in terms of free air movement has yet been found.

In some cities, it is necessary to place the anemometers on government buildings obstructed on one or more sides by taller structures which exercise a distinct influence on winds at that point. In others, they are unobstructed on top of tall buildings. The presence of buildings, however, and of mountains, valleys, sea, desert, temperature and other conditions affects the records of all the instruments in different ways by setting up turbulence, temporary variations in direction, and other departures from free air movement, all of which must be considered.

Furthermore, probably no two of the instruments at separate stations can be placed at precisely the same height above the ground. That is to say, the present Tayco-st bridge and expect to have it completed by Tuesday night. As soon as that is finished they will commence construction work on the main bridge. The work of strengthening Mill-st bridge over which traffic will be diverted was completed Saturday.

GERMANS THREATEN
BRITISH LEAD IN
SHIPPING BUSINESSNew Register Book Shows
Other Nations Are Close to Leader's Heels

BY ANDRUE BERDING
London—(AP)—Britain still holds unchallenged the shipping leadership of the world; but the new edition of Lloyds Register Book shows that other nations of the globe are catching on her heels with alarming strides.

The most astonishing expansion in shipping is registered by Germany and the Scandinavian countries, Denmark, Sweden and Norway. The United States still constitutes a more or less unprogressive second.

Another equally astonishing development has been the change over from steam to motor-engined ships. The tonnage of new motorships this last year was actually four times that of the tonnage of steam-propelled vessels.

Most of the comparisons made employ the year 1914 as a starting point. Fourteen years ago Great Britain owned 41.6 percent of the world's steam and motor tonnage. In 1928, however, this percentage is down to 39.3. What has happened in the mean time?

For one thing, British tonnage has increased but very little, from 18,800 in 1914 to 19,700,000 in 1928. Moreover, other countries have shown a steady increase, the most remarkable of them being the United States, jumping from 1,800,000 in 1914 to 10,000,000. The United States, however, is stationary, after several years of decline.

In recent years Germany has been making strenuous efforts to recover her promising position in shipping before the world war. Although her percentage of the world's shipping is less than in 1914 her expansion in the last four years, 800,000 tons, is equal to that of Great Britain. Scandinavian and other shipping has been increasing appreciably. The United States, registering a jump of 1,000,000 tons in the last quadrennium, is French and Italian merchant ships, on the other hand, show a decline. In England it is believed that the United States is maintaining her level of shipping tonnage merely by temporarily ceasing her tonnage "scrapping."

Great Britain is encouraged by the fact that she has the second largest proportion of new shipping since 1914, more than five years old. Norway has a larger proportion, 22.6 percent. Germany is high, with 21.1. It is significant of shipbuilding development in the United States, however, that American sea-going vessels launched since 1923 are only 3 percent of the total of United States tonnage.

More than 46 percent of the total new tonnage is British owned. Of additional encouragement to Great Britain is the fact that she has 28 percent of the world's total of large vessels, that is, of more than 5,000 gross tons.

The shipbuilding industry at the present moment is not in a particularly happy frame of mind. There is now a depression in freights, and the net addition since last summer of nearly 2,000,000 gross tons has brought about a surplus which the market has not yet been able to absorb. Shipbuilders are therefore looking for a check in the rate of scrapping obsolete tonnage is still operating. Last year, for instance, only 400,000 tons were broken up compared with 1,774,000 in 1924.

All figures show, however, that although other countries may have shown surprising advances, Great Britain is still the commercial mistress of the seas.

EXPECT FIGHT AT G. O. P. PLATFORM MEET IN MADISON

Both Progressive and Stalwarts Will Seek to Control Convention

Madison—(P)—Nominees for state and legislative offices of the Republican, Democratic, Socialist and Prohibition parties will gather here at noon Tuesday to adopt party platforms, select members of the respective state central committees and name the electors for the presidential candidates from Wisconsin.

Interest centers almost entirely in the Republican platform convention, where a contest is scheduled to take place between the supporters of Walter J. Kohler, Republican nominee for governor, and the Progressives led by Sen. Robert M. La Follette, Jr. The Democratic convention, which probably will be the largest Democratic party held in Wisconsin for many years, is expected to be devoid of disagreement. The Socialist gathering has never presented major disagreements, and the Prohibition convention, usually is a perfunctory affair.

A total of 118 nominees for state offices and the legislature and 16 hold-over senators are eligible to sit in the Republican convention. The convention as a whole must decide whether Mr. Kohler's platform is to be adopted and choose a chairman of the state central committee. The 44 members of this committee are chosen by congressional districts, in district conferences. Control of the committee will be gained by the group which can muster a majority of six or more of the 11 district caucuses.

The platform opening that presented by Mr. Kohler will be put before the group by the Progressives, who two years ago gained control of the state central committee and adopted their platform. Conservatives, led by Mr. Kohler, will attempt to wrest control from the Progressives, elect their own state central committee and their own platform. Unsuccessful in this, Mr. Kohler is expected to run on his own platform, as Gov. Zimmerman did two years ago.

State Sen. John B. Chase, Oconto, Progressive, as chairman of the Republican state central committee, will open that convention. It will then elect a permanent chairman to select a new central committee, adopt a platform, choose a chairman for the central committee and select presidential electors for Herbert Hoover and Charles Curtis.

Kohler forces have not announced who they will present for the various convention offices, but the Progressives are expected to support again Lieut. Gov. Henry A. Huber, Stouten, who presided over the convention two years ago, for permanent chairman, and Herman L. Ekern, chairman of the Progressive campaign committee, for state central committee chairman.

O. A. La Budde, Milwaukee, chairman of the Democratic state central committee, will open the Democratic platform party, in which total of 103 persons are eligible to sit. This convention has the same functions to fulfill as that for the Republicans.

WARN BUSINESS MEN OF SOLICITING SCHEME

A warning for Appleton business houses has been received by the chamber of commerce from the Better Business Bureau regarding the tactics of a group of solicitors known as the McPherson Publishing company.

According to the report the individuals operating under the name are a man and wife who solicit advertising space in the local directory. Their rates are as high as the traffic will stand and wherever the directories have been issued have been found to be full of errors and old information.

The whereabouts of the couple is not known at the present time, it is said, but they are operating in the mid-west. The couple usually shows credentials from a local bank but investigation proves the bank never gave approval of the project.

Old Picture Recalls First Convention Of Republican Party Held 74 Years Ago

One of the first "free soil and anti-slavery" meetings and republican conventions, which met in a church at Aurora, Ill., in 1854, will be commemorated by a celebration there this fall. Above is a picture of the choir whose singing closed the meeting. Below is Isabel Landry, one of the singers, as she looks today and as she appeared on the historic occasion.

BY PHILIP H. HARRIS

Aurora, Ill.—(P)—In the yellow gleam of flickering candles, a militant band of hardy pioneers convened in a barn-like old Aurora church three-quarters of a century ago, and sounded among the first battle cries of "free soil and anti-slavery."

This half-forgotten episode of a cool September evening 74 years ago has been associated with the birth of the national republican party as it is known today. Mildewed and musty files, and reminiscences of the last of those pioneers have aided in re-creating for Lutz White, Fox River Valley historian, this story of a republican convention which will be made part of a celebration here this autumn, commemorating its first meeting.

Among those contributing their memoirs was Isabel Landry, the little French girl, who sang for Abraham Lincoln, and was rewarded with a pound of hot-baked candy from the "thin gentleman in stove-pipe hat and short sleeves."

It was in the campaign year of 1854, White relates, that 207 "dissatisfied delegates to a Whig convention of the Second Illinois district withdrew from the sessions in an Aurora concert hall and set up their own convention in the old Congregational church.

They adopted the "republican party" as their official name, and soon set about framing their platform calling foremost for free soil and anti-slavery.

Much of the day was spent in conferences between the old Whigs and new republicans, seeking unity, but none availed. That night the 207 "insurgents" assembled within the church, dancing in the flickering light from the tallow candles which lined the rafters. The 207 adopted the resolutions that pledged a party to the abolition of slavery, and opened a new epoch in American history.

A Rev. Mr. Josephyn arose and amid loud applause sounded the keynote of the party. "The Gates of Zion," that these founders untethered their horses from the church hitching posts and galloped off for home—and history.

PROMISE EARLY ACTION ON PROBE

Expect Some Move This Week in Proposed Primary Expense Investigation

Madison—(P)—"Early in the week" there will be "something doing" on the proposed investigation of expenditures in the recent primary, state officers believe.

Discovering that an investigation was likely newspapermen again pressing the offices of the attorney general and governor for a letter that Attorney General John W. Reynolds was expected to write to the governor asking special counsel to conduct the inquiry. Repeatedly advised through Friday that action was expected soon they finally found it postponed until Saturday, on which day the same postponements greeted them.

Finally it was announced that no action was expected during the weekend. State offices are generally closed Saturday afternoon, but the attorney general was found at his desk at that time and this unusual opening of state offices during the half-holiday lent emphasis to the assertion that the matter was a weighty one and required lengthy consideration and proper background. This was further borne out in the fact that more than one conference between leaders in the inquiry took counsel with each other repeatedly over methods and men.

Gov. Zimmerman's choice of the investigators is known to have settled to a limited number, should the special investigator method be one finally elected. Other avenues for bringing the expenditures officially before the public are a special session of the legislature, or appeal to some judge to open a probe.

FOND DU LAC GETS LUMBER FROM DEPOT

Most of the lumber which is being salvaged from the old Chicago and Northwestern freight depot on N. Appleton-st is being shipped by freight to Fond du Lac to be used in repairing railroad stock yards. Some of the scrap lumber will be sent to Kaukauna to be used in the shops for fire wood, according to W. B. Basing.

COOPERATIVE OIL COMPANIES GET STATE APPROVAL

Market Department Says Such Organizations Are Sound and Beneficial

Madison—(P)—A cooperative oil company in Wisconsin should save its members one cent per gallon, even during the present period of small margins, and a sound organization, exercising due care in keeping expenses down, cannot be put out of business of anything short of a long price war that would drive all of the private independent oil companies to the wall.

This is the opinion of the state department of markets, expressed in a bulletin entitled "Cooperative Oil Marketing in Wisconsin and Minnesota."

The bulletin's purpose is to show what the average experience has been in this field and to point out in the light of this experience, some of the more important requirements for successful operation.

The bulletin arrives at these conclusions:

A co-operative group planning to enter the field should anticipate a minimum cost of fixed assets close to $40,000.

The capital stock paid in should approximately equal the cost of the plant and equipment.

The company planning to enter this business should be able to count on not less than thirteen gallons of gasoline and kerosene combined for each dollar of total assets and not less than forty gallons for each dollar of plant investment.

The operating statements of nineteen companies show a net profit of 11.7 per cent of sales; 33.8 per cent of assets; and 69.9 per cent of owners' net worth at the beginning of the year.

These results are remarkably good, but they are exceptional. Co-operative oil companies cannot expect to make so good a showing as this in the near future.

Operation statements fourteen companies show average gross profit of 4.56 per unit of sales; expense of 2.72 cents per unit; Net profit of 1.84 per unit.

A company entering this business

LITTLE JOE COUPLES WHO GET ALONG GET A LONG LUVIN' TOWARD HAPPINESS.

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

should plan to keep its expense down to two and three-quarters cents per gallon.

We recommend caution to the co-operative oil companies planning to enter the service station business at this time.

The chief advantage of the co-operative over the private oil company must be obtained through having a large assured gallonage in a company territory.

This is the best guaranteed through the sale of stock to a large number of prospective patrons. The co-operative company does not need to cut prices in order to benefit its patrons. The most important single requirement for the co-operative oil company is a large number of members who will continue to buy from it when price wars make the private companies' prices look more attractive.

STAGE AND SCREEN

"HOLD 'EM YALE!" BIG PICTURE OF "OLD ELI"

Yale university, one of the oldest and most famous of America's institutions of higher learning, forms the traditional background for Hol La Rocque's latest Fathe-DeMille starring films, "Hold 'em Yale!" which will be shown at the Elite Theatre 4 days starting today.

Many great stories and books, both historical and romantic, have been written around the famous buildings and oaks of "Old Eli." Several plays have told of the spirit that is Yale's and the loyalty that beats in the hearts of its alumni as well as the undergraduates. Now this celebrated University with its firmly founded traditions, its college spirit, its method of giving the youth of the land the best education it has to offer, comes to the screen in the De Mille studio production, "Hold 'em Yale!" directed by Edward H. Griffith under the supervision of Hector Turnbull.

"THE MATING CALL" UNITES FAMOUS ALLIANCE STARS AND DIRECTOR

Romance and drama are brilliantly blended in "The Mating Call," Thomas Meighan's latest starring film-play which will be at Fischers

Appleton Theatre Monday and Tuesday.

Adapted from the popular novel of the same name by Rex Beach, "The Mating Call" is one of the most thrilling, and at the same time, most romantic melodrama that has come to the screen in many months. It affords Meighan one of the greatest characterizations of his career. Unlike his last vehicle, "The Racket," in which he portrays the role of a fighting police captain, "The Mating Call" is rich in love-interest, and Meighan is presented with dual feminine support in the pretty persons of Evelyn Brent and Renee Adoree.

The latter are both offered in outstanding characterizations, Miss Brent as a charming and ultrasophisticated society queen, and Miss Adoree as a comely Russian immigrant girl.

NEW FASHIONS A PAGE OF INTEREST TO WOMEN BEAUTY HINTS

Use Reason In Training Your Child

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
"FOR goodness sake, Charlie, are you still fooling with that old mouth-organ?" I told you you couldn't and besides you'll cut your lip on that piece of old tin."
"I could fix it if I had the right kind of a tack and some good glue. It plays all right. Can't I get some glue, Mother? It's only ten cents. I know a dandy kind."
"No, you can't. You'd run off and forget it and the glue would lie around and be wasted like that green paint you got for the doghouse."
"Mother, honest, I won't waste it." "Well, anyway, come on now and get out the lawn-mower. It's Saturday and the grass can't go for another week. You're getting to be a big boy now and it's time you were doing something useful instead of fooling away your time. Come on!" So Charlie put down his mouth-organ with a long lingering look and shuffled off disconsolately to get the lawn-mower. He cut the grass with vicious jabs and only did it half right.
Now, unless Charlie's mother could not afford the glue for the mouth-organ, there wasn't any real reason why he couldn't have had his little wish gratified. It wasn't a passing whim. He'd been trying to fix it for a week. At any rate it was an urge that should have been carried through.
Had he been allowed to fix his toy, he would have cut the grass with better grace and more care, and not nursed the feeling of resentment that he carried with him the rest of the day.
Children are like older people. They have wishes and plans to be carried through. Is there any reason why they should be thwarted? Why do parents have the idea that children have no right to human desires?
There is no reason for spoiling a child and handing him the earth, but there is no reason to baffle him either. There is a happy middle way.
As to the green paint, it had not been wasted. The dog house which had been painted and all his mother's nagging was about the paint that had been left over. One wonders if she never bought too much material for a dress or made a like mistake.
The safe way to deal with any child is to say to ourselves, "How would I feel in the circumstances?" and act accordingly.
Children have a very strong sense of justice.

TOMATOES AU GRATIN
Sliced tomatoes, cooked au gratin are delicious. Grill tomatoes sliced three-fourths of an inch thick and dipped in crackers. Arrange in a shallow baking dish, cover with cheese sauce and crumbs and put under the oven flame to brown quickly.

THE TINYMITES

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE
"You're a king," wees Scouty. "Well, we all meet you with much pride. We've love to roam around your land. That's what we came here for. We'll be as good as we know how, and let me promise you right now that we will all be tickled with what ever is in store."
"That's fine," replied the animal king. "I guess you like to have your fling at reggie things around the world. Well, you will see lots here. I have nice animals galore. Some dogs, and cats and, oh, heaps more. You need not be afraid, 'cause there is not a thing to fear."
And then he led the Tiny bunch off to a spot where they found a bunch. "Before you start to look around, you'd better eat some food," said he. And all the Times ate, till Clowney shouted, "This is great. I'd like another piece of bread, if asking's not too rude."
"If I eat, any more, I'll die," Clowney Coo. Then he spit some pie. "Oh, well, perhaps if I try hard, I might eat some of that." This made the others laugh in glee. "You're just as pigish as can be," said Scouty. "And you're careless, too. At lunch, take off your hat." Then, when the meal was finally over, and no more could eat any more the animal king said, "Come with me. I have a dandy treat. The dog that keeps this kingdom clean will prove the best sight you have seen. He is a very wise dog, and he's one you'll like to meet." They found the dog, and what a sight. He spoke to every Tiny-mite. They noticed that he wore an apron, almost to the ground. "I'm very neat," the dog explained. "For keeping things clean I am famed. You'll never find things dusty 'cause I swing my broom around."
The Tinymites meet three little kittens in the next story.

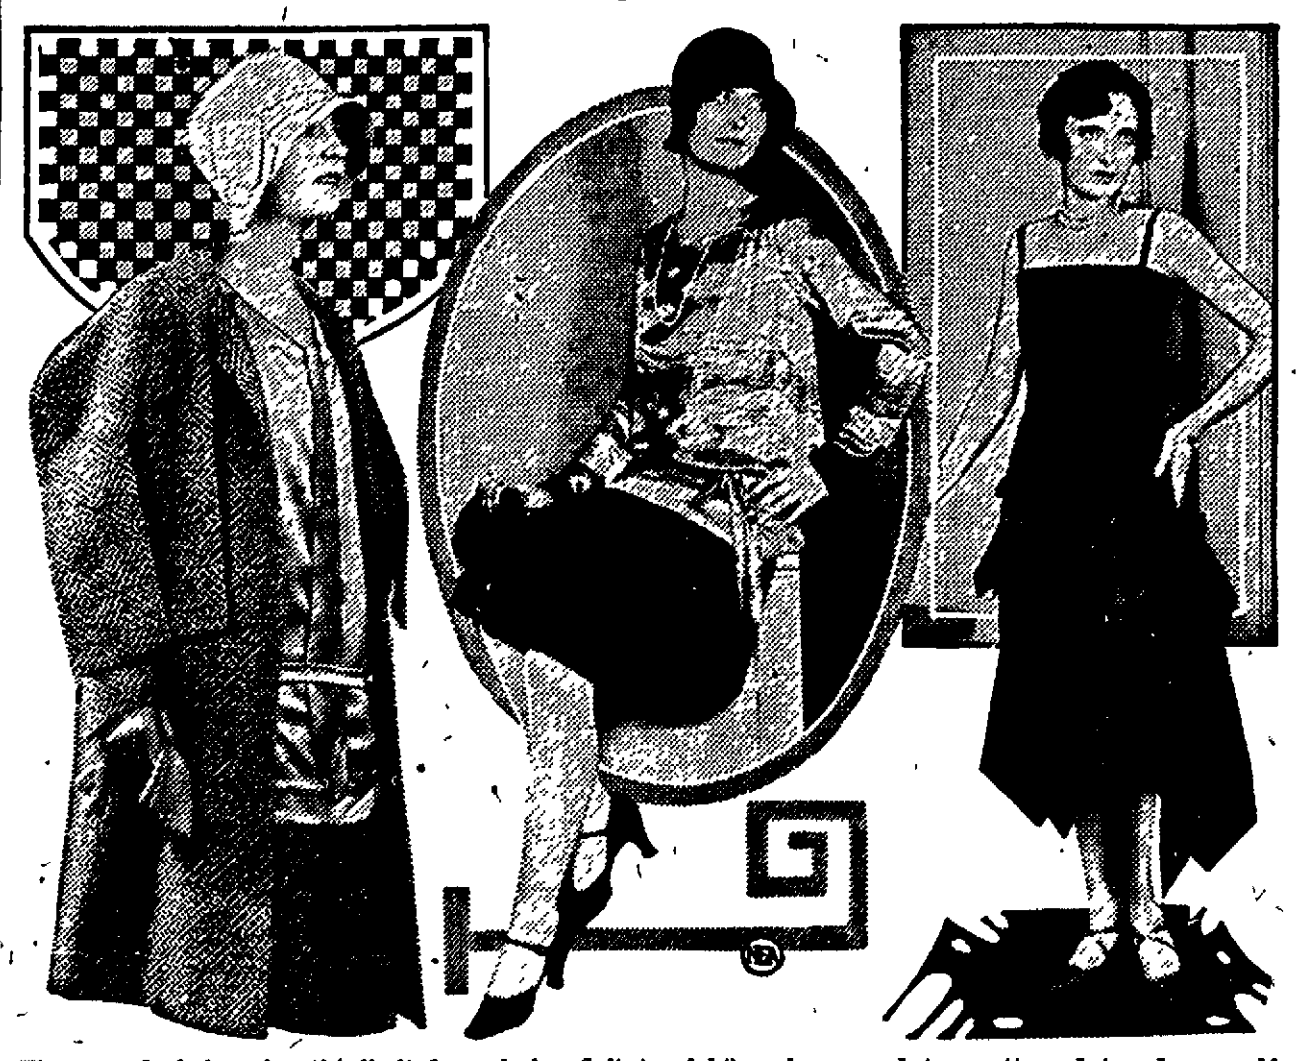

STUFFED LIAR NAME OF OLD TURKISH DISH

BY PRISCILLA RING
Bolu, Turkey — (AP)— Birthplace of some of the best cooks in Turkey this Anatolian town mourns as her sons came wandering home, out of a job because of the dietary reforms inaugurated by President Mustapha Kemal.
With the national hero's warning that his countrymen must stop eating so much if they wish to follow him up the steep hills of civilization, patriotic Turkish families have dismissed some of their superfluous cooks and have cut down their meals from a dozen to a half dozen courses. But with retrenchment they have nevertheless shrewdly retained those dishes which are nothing less than a meal in themselves.
A favorite and filling number on the shortened menu is "Circassian Liar," shredded breasts of chicken buried beneath a mountainous sauce of grated walnuts, bread crumbs and red peppers and sticky with walnut oil and chicken gravy. Even with this as a starter, the Turks can wind up with another chicken for desert.
The Priest Fainted is an affair of egg-plants stuffed with chopped vegetables and stone-pine nuts, swimming in oil. Once a Turkish priest who had just laid in a winter's supply of olive oil was presented by his wife with this dish which she had concocted. Eyeing it suspiciously, he queried, "How much oil did you use?"
"All you brought," she answered. "All?" "All?" shouted the priest, and when again his wife answered "all" the priest fainted.
Stuffed Liar is little rice balls wrapped in grape leaves and cooked in the inevitable olive oil. They are called Liar because honest Dismas have meat inside.

FASHION HINTS

TWO FACED
The double faced scarf is new. One side is apt to be plain color and the other very modernistic and decorative. One is pearl grey on one side and on the other grey, with all the plum and fuschia shades patterning it in calico design.
LACE CONTRAST
A beige lace frock for autumn afternoons has a two-tiered skirt of black lace on the beige lace foundation and black lace flounces from the elbow to the wrist of the tight beige lace sleeves.
STRASS BUCKLE
A six-inch wide strass buckle of great beauty is the focal point on a black panne velvet frock with fullness concentrated in the center front and a deep lace fichu around the pointed neck.
BUCKLES' POPULARITY
It is a winter of buckles. A smart tweed outfit in slate blue has matching blue leather buckles, with silver mountings, to fasten its jacket; ornament its hat-band, pumps and to close a purse carried with it.

Avoid Striking Things For Small Wardrobe; Rely On Line And Fabric

BY HENRI BENDEL
NEW YORK — With this season for unusual and decorative clothes, there is a high premium upon the pretty and becoming costume that has the additional attraction of being wearable. Some materials, like transparent velvet or fine laces, are loveliness itself but not practical for the woman who can have few outfits with which to maintain her reputation as a well-groomed individual. Also some colors while decorative and beautiful are so challenging that they, too, are impractical except in the well-stocked wardrobe because once seen they are never forgotten.
AVOID BIZARRE COSTUMES
This same is true of certain styles. A Princess gown with unique neckline, train, hip ornamentation or other noticeable feature will be remembered and the times its owner wears it will be tallied by women who may be envious but surely are noticing.
Therefore the costume that is charming, of alluring color and fine material that, nevertheless, falls into the class of fine workmanship rather than startling, is the one for women with a fund of good taste but not so many clothes.
The best choice for a suit in this category is a tweed. Never were tweeds smarter than this season. If a woman gets one of the new smoky blues or of the rust browns, by charge of blouse or jumper and hat and shoes can achieve any number of costumes with the one suit.
There are tweeds with fur-lined coats, others with smartly fur-trimmed jackets. But come that bear authentic chic are those with no trimming at all, depending on their own lines and fine material for it.
An especially chic suit is of rather dark brown, with a fleck of tan in it, a serviceable, smartly patterned design of tweed. Its skirt is semi-circular and of the variety that can have its blouse tucked in to it, or worn over its snugly fitting hipline.
The coat comes within a few inches of reaching the skirt's lower edge. It flares in much the same manner as the skirt and has raglan sleeves under a shawl collar that is much like a cape when untied. Its tan silk blouse has its long tie and belt bound in brown.
Velveteen comes in new sweetness this winter, a charming fabric. For afternoon nothing is nicer than one of the velveteen suits, with a lame blouse in silver or gold, with some color.
CHIC LITTLE BLOUSE
With a bright medium blue suit, an especially charming blouse is one of silver lame with a striped weave that uses just enough blue threads in it to make it perfect with the suit. Blouses, this winter.

Of Blue Swiss

CUNING BEACH COSTUME
A French blue swiss with white polka-dots is chosen for the beach outfit for the dainty miss of 2, 4 and 6 years. And it will be difficult to find one more attractive than Style No. 2542 falling full from shirred yoke, which is attached to inset shoulder pieces with quaint plaited cap sleeves. The matching sun bonnet is shirred to fit head and trimmed with ribbon and ruffling. Small diagrams explain simplicity of pattern. Fresh colored crepe de chine, printed dimity, organdie in orchid shade, pale yellow batiste, plain blueingham, white cotton broadcloth with sailor blue dots, and English prints in tiny floral patterns are only a few of the many attractive combinations. Pattern price 15 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Our patterns are made by the leading Fashion Designers of New York City and are guaranteed to fit perfectly. In sending for the pattern, we suggest that you enclose 10 cents additional for a copy of our Summer Fashion Magazine containing 200 attractive styles and articles regarding correct selection of models to make the individual appear at her best.

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS--

A girl doesn't need experience to detect the engagement ring in a man's voice.

ter, take a touch of trimming, as does this one with a crisp cross of the suit's material down its front and for cuffs.
For service and chic combined, a taffeta evening gown is admirable. Fashioned of fine material, a taffeta really needs no trimming save those made from its own material, such as crimson, clematis, fuschia blue.
Yvonne Carrette uses taffeta after the manner of tulle or chiffon in a crimson evening gown with long, moulded bodice and a skirt that flares from the hipline with bows and streamers of self-material. It has pointed, uneven dips to its skirt-line, with more length in the back. But it gets away from the bustle idea of fullness by having almost a suggestion of the bouffant gown in the way its skirt is posed on the moulded silhouette.

LACY TEAGOWNS BEING REVIVED

BY HAZEL REAVIS
(Associated Press Fashion Editor)
Paris — (AP)— Teagowns, vestige of Victorianism, have been resurrected. The fashionable world, still thinking regretfully of comfortable sports clothes, is somewhat in doubt as to who, if anyone, will wear them. But teagowns there are in nearly every big Paris collection and teagowns are being talked about.
"They are for dinner at home and wear in the house, when one is receiving informally," the head-saleswoman explained at a house showing a black and pink net teagown with a sequined train four feet long. "It's sleeves if this particular model, foaming with bright pink tulle ruffles that spill halfway down the length of the dragging skirt; make even teagowning hazardous."
There are teagowns of other types for women who don't like trains and dangling sleeves. There are pajamas, for instance. Paris makes them a little fussier than formerly. More trimmed and intricate in recognition of the revival of ladylikeness. Some of them are close copies of pre-society Russian boudoir costumes. Others are purely Parisian, with chiffon and feathers for the base.
The usual form of tea costume is a simple chiffon house robe, which is something like a cleverly cut short nightdress, and a matching long straight coat, with or without sleeves. Pastel colored laces are extensively used for this form.

VELVET AND ERMINE USED IN FALL FROCKS

Paris — (AP)— Velvet and ermine are frequently paired in the fall fashions.
The dressmakers put them together in dresses and coats for afternoon and evening, and one designer even shows a house coat of quilted velvet collared with ermine. The velvet, naturally, is always black.
Another pet combination of the fall dress collection is velvet and real lace. Usually the lace is used for soft ruffles around the neck and at the cuffs. Some houses show lace ruffles on printed as well as plain velvet dresses.

Fashion Plaques

THIS CHARMING black felt model is a type of poke with a long rippled side and none at the back, where the black satin ribbon crosses to tie in a knot at the end of the trim.

THE NEW Saint Sinner

"Dear old George—if Crystal really wants his attention, she couldn't have taken a better tack than getting hit by his car," whispered Faith as she and Bob sat on the front porch on the third night after Crystal's accident.
"I wonder if George would ever see a woman as a woman unless first appealed to through pity. If Crystal is posing, and I'm sure that Dr. Wright thinks she is, she used uncannily wise tactics. Wonder where she got her lore?"
"Didn't George tell you that he found her crying in the garden at the country club dinner?" asked Bob. "And judging by Crystal's radiance when he brought her in and danced with her he must have cheered her up considerably."
Faith nervously rose from her chair, leaning against the trellis, and trailing her fingers through the buds and blossoms of the sweet honeysuckle.
"I won't let her use George, and that's all she's doing. She just can't bear it because Toney Tarver has sheiks galore trailing after her. She happened to learn that George is apt to be available, being such a good friend of ours, and because she discovered how to engage his interest once, she's keeping it up just to have a man. I won't have it, Bob. Hathaway, if she is your cousin!"
Bob lit a new cigaret, recrossed his legs and looked out into the dark night as he said in a tone that was only half bantering:
"Are you sure it's my cousin you're so riled at, Faith, or the fact that George Pruitt passed by you with a green flower box with which you were once quite familiar?"
"Bob!" Faith whirled about, her eyes flashing. "And you just finished scolding me for my jealousy!"
She dashed into the house, smoothed her hair in the hall, and advanced with her usual poise into the living room where Crystal lay on the divan.
Gaily, she asked: "Well, George what do you think of our sick-a-bed girl tonight? The accident didn't affect her appetite, anyway, George. Let's see, Crystal, what was the lunch today? Creamed sweetbread and mushroom, patties, pineapple and cheese salad, hot buttered rolls with guava jelly, and chocolate butter cream cake."
Crystal made a little affected moan and buried her brown wave into the little apple green silk bouffant cushion which Faith had brought from her own chaise longue for her. Her voice was affected, too, but Faith caught the little angry note as she said:
"Oh, cousin Faith, how could you tell such awful things about me? Of course it was true, but George—Mr. Pruitt—will think I'm one big appetite. It's because Faith fixes things so beautifully, Mr. Pruitt." Crystal was wearing her rose and silver negligee and had made a special point of catching the silver lace sleeves to her shoulder so that her white, soft arms were bare from the shoulder. She saw George notice them, too, as he put the flowers in Crystal's arm.
"I'll get a vase," said Faith, and left them.

Big Crowd Sees Play At Church

ABOUT 500 persons saw the play, "When A Feller Needs a Friend" presented under auspices of the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Mary church Sunday afternoon and evening at Columbia hall. The scene of the play is New York city and the time, November of 1919. The action of the play takes place in the boarding house of Mrs. Reese, a deaf and cross woman, played by Miss Mercedes Peerenboom. The plot centers around two star boarders, Clyde McCabe and Joseph Rechner, who haven't paid their rent for two months. They had pawned everything they owned and were in no position to entertain an aunt and uncle, played by Miss Marie Hobbs and Howard Crabbe, who came for a visit. Miss Marie Tillman played the part of the land lady's daughter, Liz, and Cuthbert Ryan, the part of Jerry, a friend, who helped the star boarders in their efforts to make things presentable for the unexpected visit. Others who took part in the play were Miss Mary Stulp, a sophisticated young city girl, Miss Eileen McCleane, a sweet demure girl, and a chauffeur, George Uebelacher. Entertainment between acts was given by Miss Marie Fountain, Miss Helen Crabbe and Clement Pack.

CALUMET
COUNTY

KAUKAUNA-LITTLE CHUTE-KIMBERLY

NEARBY
TOWNSHIGH SCHOOL GRID
CANDIDATES HOLD
FIRST SCRIMMAGE

Backfield Is Light but Speedy—Heavier Line Is Expected This Year

Kaukauna—Candidates for the Kaukauna high school football team had a chance to show their ability in a long scrimmage session Saturday afternoon at the ball park. All candidates had a chance to play in the scrimmage and several showed that they could handle the positions in good shape. Letter men of last year showed up well, as did some of the new men.

Captain Marvin Miller is again playing fullback at present and is handling the position admirably. Robert Main, who also played fullback last year, has been shifted to an end position. "Mush" Esler, who is not out for practice on account of an attack of appendicitis, will report the latter part of the week. He will play his old position at half back. William Ludke is playing the other half position at present. Paul Casey, a new aspirant for the quarter back position, is the most likely candidate for that job just now. On the whole, the backfield is a little lighter than last year, but it is fast and with the help of a heavy line it ought to again fulfill the name of "falling ghosts," the title which the Kawmen backfield has had for the past few years.

The line will be heavier than last year. There will be eight letter men available for linemen and plenty of new material of weight for utility. Main and Harvey Doering are at the end positions. Richard Ferguson, who played end last year, is absent from practice on account of appendicitis. He will be out for practice the latter part of this week or the first part of the next.

Peter Hanson and Foster Crevier are filling the tackle positions. Hanson was unable to play last year because he had an injured leg. He played guard on the team two years ago. Crevier played tackle last year in fine style, and if anyone plays his position on the team this year he will have to work for it.

Luke VanLeishout and John Mau, two more letter men, are working at guard positions. They are both heavy men and make a good pair of fullback stoppers. Luther Hallock, who recently reported for practice, is a three year man and can work at either guard or tackle positions. Richard "String" Landreman, tallest center in the Northwestern interscholastic conference, is again playing in the middle of the line. This seems the best place for him, as he was ranked as the best center in the conference last year by many fans. There is plenty of green material for the line but the backfield is still a problem. Only two more weeks remain before the first game of the season which will be played against Oconto at this city.

CITY CHECKING UP ON DELINQUENT STUDENTS

Kaukauna—A final check-up is being made in the city by W. T. Sullivan, principal of the Kaukauna Vocational school, of students of school age not attending school. The law compels persons under the age of 18 to attend school. Those are under this age not attending school will be forced to do so. Persons between the ages of 16 and 18 must attend school at least once a week. Those under this age must attend school at least two and one half days a week.

According to Principal Sullivan, there is a large number of such persons in Kaukauna, and they will be made to go to school. He is assisted by the city nurse, Miss Mattie Hayes and the local police department. The north side of the city and Island has been checked over. They are checking up the south side this week. The work will be finished Wednesday, it is expected.

SWIMMING POOL WILL BE CLOSED EVENINGS

Kaukauna—Because of lack of patronage, the municipal swimming pool will not be open evenings, as was the custom during the summer. During the last month only 82 men and 123 women took advantage of the open nights. Some nights no one used the pool, so J. O. Posson, head of electrical and water departments, decided that the pool will be closed evenings. It will be open every afternoon, however.

MEN'S CHORUS STARTS
REHEARSALS TUESDAY

Kaukauna—The first practice session of the Kaukauna Men's Chorus will be held at 7:30 Tuesday evening in the local high school music room. Hubert Peterson will have charge. He succeeds Charles Clark as director of the chorus.

BOY SCOUT TROOP WILL

Kaukauna—Local Boy Scouts of Troop number 20 will meet at 7 o'clock Monday at Park School. Scoutmaster R. C. Ransley will have charge of the meeting.

LEGION ELEVEN HAS

Long Workout Is Held Sunday Afternoon in Preparation for Shawano Game

Kaukauna—Thirty-five men turned out for the first Legion football scrimmage Sunday afternoon. A long practice was held, as the first game of the season will be held next Sunday with Shawano. Four nights week will be held, from 7 to 8 o'clock, but it is always dark and lights have to be used. Coach William Ashe, and assistant coaches Harry McAndrews and Henry Oim, were in charge.

After some light exercises, two teams were picked and the men started on an all afternoon scrimmage. A large crowd watched them perform.

Kilgas, Mertes, Miller and Baesman took turns at calling signals. Verbanen, Wenzel, Miron, Rabideau, Dix, and Reid played at the backs. "Red" Peters and Vile alternated at center. Peters, who was an old high school football star, showed up well, spilling many plays tried by the opposite team. Other candidates played in the line. Hovde played at tackle and looked good at the position. Fans will probably see him in action this fall.

Four more practices will be held before the Shawano game. The practices will be Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday.

TWILIGHT LEAGUE TO END SEASON THIS WEEK

Kaukauna—Only one more week of softball games remain to be played in the Twilight league, and then the championship team will be determined.

Mulford were the league leaders in the first series of games, and so far in the second series the Thilmans team is leading. If the schedule ends this way the championship game will be between the Thilmans and Mulford teams.

The games this week will be played at the city ball park if it is possible. Searchlights will be used so postponed games may be played off. Double headers may be played so the series can be finished this week. Monday evening the Mulfords will meet the Bankers, and Tuesday, Andrews Oils will play the Bankers, and Tuesday, Andrews Oils will play the Bankers. The Bankers will battle with the first place Thilmans team on Wednesday and on Thursday evening the Electricians will play the Postoffice.

MORE HUNTERS THAN
DUCKS ALONG RIVER

No Sportsman Gets Limit on Opening Day—Several Reported Arrested

Kaukauna—Residents here were awakened about 5:10 Sunday morning by a barrage of shots which sounded like the Fourth of July or the opening of another World war. After a few moments of sleepy wonderment, however, most people rolled over and went back to sleep, as they realized that the shots were only those of the hundreds of duck hunters who lined the banks of the river in this vicinity for the first shot at the wild ducks on the opening day of the season. No hunters got the limit of 15 ducks, but some reported getting as many as eight. The greater share of them said they were lucky to get one or two, as hunters were so numerous. Almost 200 men lined the river banks and were hidden in the weeds in the rapids awaiting the first sign of dawn. A watcher of the whole lower river could tell of many funny incidents that occurred in the scramble for fallen ducks. According to one hunter, when a duck flew into gun range, ten guns rang out and the duck would fall. Immediately about 15 men would rush forth for the fallen bird, a few with rowboats, some in hip boots, and some of the more anxious claim the duck and then a scramble would result. Some received a severe ducking while trying to get the duck. It was reported that several local men were arrested by deputy game wardens, appointed by Warden Louis Jeske. DePere Woman, Aged 90
Active In Community

De Pere — Although Mrs. Susan Altmeyer of De Pere has reached the remarkable age of four score and ten years, she is as spry and active as the average person of 50 years and takes a keen interest in politics and all happenings and new achievements of the present time. She delights in reading and usually reads several books a week, among them German as well as English fiction. She also reads several daily papers to keep in touch with all the latest events. She was born in Weheshelm, Germany, on Sept. 8, 1838, and came to America with her parents in 1852. After remaining in New York for a short time they settled in the town of Morrison in Wisconsin. Her father was a weaver, but he did not follow that trade in America. He bought a farm and later on erected a saw mill, a necessity in the pioneer days. Mrs. Altmeyer was married in Morrison. In 1855 with her family she came to De Pere where she has lived ever since. She relates some thrilling and interesting experiences. She often walked from Morrison to Manitowish, making the finest kind of knitted lace. She was awarded first prize for her work at the De Pere County fair in competition with some of the best lace-makers in the county.

time she was chased by a pack of wolves. Among the Indians she was known as "the white angel" because of her generosity and kindly feeling toward them. They came to her log cabin for bacon and flour and never had to go away with empty hands, even though she had to give up her last strip of bacon or the last pinch of flour.

During the Civil war her husband entered service and she was left in charge of the sawmill and farm. They had two small children at that time and third was born during the war. Nine children were born to them of whom seven are living.

Mrs. Altmeyer was the proud possessor of one of the first sewing machines, costing $150, which in those days was considered a small fortune. Neighbor women brought their goods to her to have them sewed up on her machine, and while she was doing the sewing for them they in return did the house-work for her and helped with other work about the farm.

Even at the present time, Mrs. Altmeyer enjoys spending hours making the finest kind of knitted lace. She was awarded first prize for her work at the De Pere County fair in competition with some of the best lace-makers in the county.

STATE BODY URGES
MOTORISTS TO HAVE
CAR LIGHTS TESTED

Industrial Commission Recommends Use of Certified Testing Stations

Madison—(P)—How are your headlights? The industrial commission has asked.

The state body's electrical division, headed by J. B. Wise, issued a new appeal to motorists to go to certified public light adjustment stations, operated under the supervision of the commission, as the longer nights approach.

The commission statement said properly adjusted lights are necessary at all times, but are even more important during the fall when tourist traffic is still heavy and shorter days bring more night driving.

"Every driver who is really interested in safety will see that his lights are properly adjusted," the commission's pronouncement said. "By so doing, he also avoids causing glare to others and he assures himself of the maximum of adequate driving light."

The commission emphasized that the new state law whereby the headlight stations were established is not a mandatory or prohibitive acts which compels the citizen to have his lights on his car adjusted, but provides the driver with state service at a nominal cost for his own advantage. This, the legislature apparently determined, would be better than a law compelling motorists to have their lights inspected, as it would contain no objectionable governmental prohibition or demand and would instead provide a service which all motorists want.

"The only remaining duty of the driver is to take advantage of a service that he has long demanded," the statement said.

There are now 24 and soon will be 28 certified adjusting stations located in 32 cities of the state, each of them "prepared to put your headlights in proper operating condition at reasonable cost."

The commission concluded with the admonition: "Watch for the Official Approval Stickers."

Farm Expert Advises Use of Classified
Advertising To Dispose of Surplus Stock

Reprinted from Post-Crescent,
November 29, 1926

ADVERTISING BEST
MEDIUM FOR SALES
OF SURPLUS STOCK

Agricultural Expert Believes in Classified Ads to Move Crops

Madison—(P)—Surplus stock, seeds, fruits and vegetables on farms throughout the state may be disposed of most effectively through the classified advertising medium of newspapers, according to the department of Journalism at the University of Wisconsin. Fall and winter is the time most suitable for the disposal of such excess supplies and thereby bring the farmer a margin of profit which otherwise might constitute a loss, he said.

"For the lower priced surplus in the possession of the farmer," Mr. Sumner said, "the classified advertisement is perhaps the most effective medium. It has the power to bring quick results and is usually read by the class of readers who are ready for bargains to meet their individual needs."

"Every farmer in the state has something to sell, some article or commodity that can bring him no profit but might be of service to another farmer in the same community or in a distant portion of the state."

"When the farmer has a small quantity of surplus seed or stock to dispose of the local newspapers could probably be used to the greatest advantage in securing results. When the quantity is larger a county paper will undoubtedly be the most satisfactory. As an even more effective medium the state press should be employed, combined with farm papers."

In exceptional cases, he said, the farmer occasionally resorts to expensive catalogues and booklets to create a market for his products, whether excess or not, but as a rule the expense is too great for the average farmer and would not be applicable for the sale of small quantity products.

"In using the classified advertisement," Mr. Sumner said, "the farmer should not attempt to write too briefly because the saving of a few cents in this manner might result in decreased results. By clearly setting out the products that he has for sale, a buyer is almost certain to be found among the readers of the various papers, and, due to this, deterioration in his surplus stock will be prevented and the product placed in the hands of the individual with immediate needs for the articles."

Through The Post-Crescent, Outagamie County farmers, and farmers in general in the Central Fox River Valley, have access to a wide market for the disposal of surplus stock, livestock and other farm products.

The Appleton Market!

The City of Appleton with its approximate population of 24,000, daily consumes huge quantities of butter, eggs, vegetables, fruits, etc. — Many farms find a ready outlet for these products by tapping this market direct through Post-Crescent Classified Advertising.

The Outagamie
Rural Market

When it comes to disposing of cows, bulls, chickens, pigs, seeds and other products and livestock that farmers require, the surest, quickest and most economical way for one farmer to come into contact with a live prospect in Outagamie County and surrounding counties is to utilize Post-Crescent Classified Advertising.

25 LAWRENCE GRIDDERS GO THROUGH WORKOUT SATURDAY

Rasmussen, Kotal Start Practice With Fundamentals Of Game

Two Sessions Carded for Monday and Tuesday With Usual Chalk Talks

Perhaps it was a coincidence that the sun began shining Saturday noon after several days of gloomy weather, but somehow it characterized the football situation at Lawrence college if the performance at Whiting field during the day can be taken as any criterion.

About 20 college huskies were out on the field during the morning session and after a straight-through-shoulder talk by Clarence H. Rasmussen, their new grid coach, started work with a vengeance on football fundamentals. The morning's workout lasted an hour and a half.

Several minutes before the time set for the afternoon session, 2:30, there were a half dozen youngsters out on the green pushing and tugging at each other, perfecting tactics that had been taught during the morning. When practice time finally arrived the 20 men of the morning's session had been augmented by about five more fellows and the afternoon's work was in full swing.

Up at one end of the practice field Coach Rasmussen had about half the squad, men who felt they wanted to play line positions and at the other end, Eddie Kotal had another group, potential ball carriers.

Kotal was signed Friday as assistant to Rasmussen, and will assist with the backfield men throughout the remainder of the season. He assisted Catlin for a few weeks last season.

Football fundamentals, the kind the men received Saturday and will get for at least another three days this week, is a new innovation out at Whiting field—and the best part of it is the boys appeared to revel in the "dope" they were getting. When they had perfected a blocking tactic and were able to spill someone there was a big grin of satisfaction on their faces.

Rasmussen started his gang off with a bit of calisthenics and then they got down to work. Reviewing part of their lesson from the morning they started blocking tactics, working in groups of three and two men. The new coach is assisted by Paul Miller whom he refers to as his "sidekick" and who won numerals and an Awa at Wisconsin last year. The youngster is ineligible for Lawrence football this year but has had several seasons of summer coaching and will assist Rasmussen until next year when he can play.

All the blocking tactics in the books were revealed to the boys during the afternoon's session together with means of breaking through the defensive line. After the intricacies of the system were shown the methods of tackling were rehearsed.

Kotal, in the meantime, has the backfield men to himself and was putting them through the paces. They practiced up and down the field a dozen times, getting off as backfield men should and adapting themselves to receiving the ball. The practice was set develop wind—and it did.

The mysteries of sidestepping also occupied part of Kotal's session with the backfielders, the men first trying it slowly to get the hang and then lining up to sidestep a couple fellows placed on the field as tacklers. It was great stuff and, frankly, the first time some of the men considered veterans, ever had received the training. A bit of blocking also was part of the afternoon's lesson.

Monday morning another session was scheduled with a second one offered for the afternoon and a skull session for late afternoon or evening. Tuesday's program will be the same and Wednesday, with the beginning of school, work will be confined to one afternoon drill and a skull session.

About Wednesday the field will be closed to visitors, according to Rasmussen and the first series of plays handed out. The first scrimmage of the week should come about Friday evening the coach believes. Lawrence's first game is a week from Saturday with Oshkosh normal here.

Among the men on the field Saturday from Lincoln were: Ed. Kotal, Paul Miller, Schrauer, Bloomer, Fossell, Humphrey, MacInnis and Bartell. Other men on the field without varsity experience were Laird, Bradley, Hall, Wurtz, Steinberg, Vincent, Barnes, Vedder, Fischl, Rasmussen, Trankel, Valentine and Schneller.

WISCONSIN CREW TO HAVE FALL RACE OCT. 6

Madison — An innovation in Wisconsin crew policy will be introduced this fall when the Lincoln Park Boat Club of Chicago in a mile and one quarter race at Oct. 6. The rowing event will be held in conjunction with the Notre Dame game here and the dedication of the new Memorial Union building.

This announcement is evidence of an honest attempt to build up rowing at Wisconsin, and a development of considerable interest for the Poughkeepsie Regatta next spring. The Lincoln Park Club boasts the best crew in history. Their shell, stroked and coached by Bob Bodach, took second in the national amateur regatta in Philadelphia last month.

FRISCH THIRD AS SECOND BASEMAN FARRELL THINKS

Ranks Lazzari of Yanks, Bishop of A's as Better Players

BY HENRY L. FARRELL

The American League club in the world series will have the advantage at second base with either the Yanks or the Athletics facing the best equipped National League team.

There can be no dispute that, up to the time he injured his throwing shoulder, Tony Lazzari of the Yankees was the best second baseman in the major leagues. And even with an arm that pained him to tears in the crucial series against the Athletics, he was a most brilliant and capable performer.

Next to Lazzari, Max Bishop of the Athletics is the best second baseman in the American League and, although it may cause the houses to tumble in on us, we think that Bishop is a better second baseman than any one any eligible National League club can present.

Frank Frisch of the Cardinals is by far the best of any of the National League second basemen who have a chance to get into the series. But he is not the best player at his position in his league. To our way of thinking, Rogers Hornsby of the Braves and Hugh Critz of the Reds are better men at the position than Frisch.

HOW PLAYERS RATE

Considering all the angles, the second baseman who may appear in the series might be rated as follows:

Lazzari, Yankees, 1.
Bishop, Athletics, 2.
Frisch, Cardinals, 3.
Adams or Bartell, Pirates, 4.
Reese or Cohen, Giants, 5.
Maguire, Cubs, 6.

There can be no doubt as to the real value of Lazzari to the Yankees in a series. But you will hear frequent references to what Old Pete Alouder did to him in the world series some time back. It isn't fair, though, because Lazzari certainly is game and when Old Pete froze him stiff he was just a green youngster.

Placing Bishop above Frisch in the ratings is a subject for hot controversy and it represents our opinion. Frisch is not a quick-twitching ball player. There is no doubt about it. He has difficulty in remembering that there aren't two out and his actions have cost games to the teams he has played with.

Frisch would be more spectacular in a series than Lazzari or Bishop but he does a lot of useless charging around and he makes simple chances look hard. And he doesn't always do his best in a pinch. Lazzari and Bishop bat better than Frisch. They are not as fast as the bases but you have to get on to run the bases.

OTHERS DON'T RATE

The other second basemen on the National League clubs are just ball players. Cohen, after being commercialized all over New York, fell down badly late in the season and McGraw had to replace him with Reese. In a world series, however, Cohen might rise to the occasion. Especially since he has had time to gather his nerves by a rest from duty. The young man was in a very tough spot from the start of the season. And he has plenty of guts.

Adams did fine work for the Pirates when he was allowed to remain at second base, but he had to come out at shortstop when Wright went bad and he became unsettled. He is not a heavy man with the bat and neither is Bartell.

Chicago critics think that Freddy McQuire is a greatly underestimated player. He is a nice fielder, but his weakness with the bat makes him suffer by comparison with the hard-hitting Lazzari, Bishop, Reese and Frisch.

BADGER ASSISTANT COACHES ANNOUNCED

Madison — The Wisconsin athletic council has made the appointment of seven minor coaches who will be associated with the Badger football staff this fall. George Hitchcock, Wisconsin wrestling coach, will assist line-coach Tom Lieb.

Three former Badger players have been signed to coach this fall. Adolph Bieberstein, a forward in 1923 and '24, will tutor the freshmen line, and will be assisted by Bob Sykes, guard on last year's eleven. Bob Kaskiska, a tackle of two years ago, will work under George Little in intra-mural football.

N. G. Wann of Muncie, normal, Muncie, Ind., is slated to take charge of the frosh backs. A. L. Strum, former LaCrosse athlete and more recently athletic director at Terre Haute normal school, Terre Haute, Ind., will also assist with the yearlings. Arthur Murray of Wooster college, Wooster, O., has been appointed coach of the All-Americans.

WALK MILLER, FIGHT MANAGER, FOUND DEAD

Kingston, N. Y. — (AP) — Walk Miller, manager of the late Tiger Flowers, at one time middleweight champion, was found dead Monday morning by his own hand.

His lifeless body was found in his room at his training camp for boxers near here Sunday. There were two bullet wounds in his body, one in the temple, the other through his heart.

Lying in the creek of his arm was a revolver. No one apparently heard the shots. His body was discovered when Jesse McMahon, former match-maker for Madison Square Garden, called to see him.

AIR TRAVEL OKEHED

Detroit — Persons who travel by airplane no longer are considered "poor risks" by insurance companies. Reports at a recent insurance convention showed the development of aviation, better pilot training, and more skilled pilots have almost eliminated risk.

No Damage Done

When two husky young men come together in a collision, such as is pictured above, the first aid squad frequently is called into action. In this fine action shot Al Marsters, the star Dartmouth back, is shown charging into Mike Sherman, one of his teammates, and Sherman is shown plainly looking for the softest spot on the ground.

WILCE HAS 80 MEN OUT FOR OHIO TEAM

Haskell Indian Star Reports to Ingwersen, Iowa Grid Leader

Chicago — (AP) — Talent, qualitative and quantitative, has rallied to the aid of Coach John W. Wilce of Ohio State and Burt Ingwersen of Iowa, who have been the targets of alumni criticism for their failure to turn out winning football teams during the 1927 season.

Eighty candidates responded to Wilce's call, while 60 turned out at Iowa.

Dr. Wilce, who has announced his retirement next June to practice medicine, said he was going into his last season with the single interest of making it a success.

Wilce's first move was to bar all spectators, except newspapermen, from the workouts.

The first line-up Saturday indicated the Buckeyes would have a powerful line and one of the fleetest backfields in the Big Ten. Return of Eby, Cory, Kriss, Huston, Leo Fouch and other speedy backs, Leo Raskowski, all-American tackle in 1927, and other veteran linemen have given Wilce a strong nucleus to work around.

Among the Iowa candidates were 15 veterans and 28 freshmen numerical winners of 1927. Coach Ingwersen's greatest hope, however, rested on the brawny shoulders of Mayes M. McCain, Indian full back who led up 13 points in 12 games at the Haskell Institute in 1928. McCain, who weighs 210 pounds and stands six feet two inches tall, is a powerful driver and a fast broken field runner.

KOTAL STARS AS BAYS WIN FIRST PRO GAME

Green Bay — (AP) — The Green Bay Packers worked a forward passing game with good results Sunday to take the first game of the National football league from the Minneapolis Marines, 19 to 0. Five thousand persons witnessed the game.

All three of the Packer touchdowns were made on passes with Lewellen leading two of them to Eddie Kotal, halfback, and the other to O'Donnell, end. One goal was kicked after the touchdown.

Herb Joesting, former university of Minnesota star, was successfully stopped by the veteran packer line. His longest gain was five yards.

Allen through at St. Paul — Rumor around the American Association has Nick Allen through as manager of the St. Paul club. Bob Conner, owner, is preparing to clean house, Allen included.

AROUND THE SPORT WORLD

ROOKIES WON'T DO — The club will not depend entirely upon the gamble that any one or two of the fine prospects that have been bought in the minor leagues will fill the vacancy. Experienced pitchers will be necessary.

The Yankees can get some pitchers from the other American League clubs if they will give something for them. And they will have to give or else.

No American League club would do business with New York last winter. No club owner wanted to add strength or help a club that seemed to be already invincible.

But the human frailty of the club has been shown in these recent weeks and no manager will be drummed out of his town if he deals with the Yankees this winter.

OLD BOYS GOOD BUT

Some of the young Philadelphia players resented the generosity shown by Connie Mack in signing Ty Cobb and Tish Speaker at fancy salaries. They figured that if the treasury was so flush the surplus could be divided among the younger players who had to do the heavy work through the whole season.

Mack, however, figures that his investment in Cobb and Speaker paid him well. "If Cobb and Speaker were not around we would have been lost hopelessly during the early part of the season when Simmons was out of the game for so long," he said.

The veteran leader says also that it was not Cobb's slow legs that caused him to be taken out of the lineup. "He was almost killed when he was hit over the heart with a pitched ball in Chicago and I had to make him quit for fear that he would kill himself trying," Mack said.

LEAGUE STANDINGS SLIGHTLY CHANGED BY WEEKEND GAMES

Giants Lose 1 and 0 When Larry Benton Forces in Winning Run

Down the home stretch race baseball batons race and it's short shrift for those that slip, even momentarily, now.

Two months ago a game lost was accompanied by no particularly disastrous after-effects but with only two weeks to go, a defeat for a contender is serious.

Both races are as far from being decided as they were on the opening day of the season. Sunday's games left the Yankees a half game ahead of their bitter American League rivals, the Philadelphia Athletics, while the St. Louis Cardinals, stretched their National league advantage to two full games when the second place New York bowed to Pittsburgh.

That giant defeat, by 1 to 0, was a bitter pill for Larry Benton, right-handed red-head of John McGraw's twirling staff. Larry held the Pirates to two hits in the eight innings he worked and walked only two men and yet had only himself to blame for his defeat.

Dazzy Vance saw a well-pitched game go the boards as the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Brooklyn Robins, 4 to 3 in 10 innings. The Reds scored single runs in the fourth and sixth with the aid of errors by Bismontie and Hank Deberry and apparently had the game won as the Robins came to bat in the Ninth. Johnny Goetz's pinch double, however, scored two runs and forced the game into extra innings. The Reds won the game with a two-run rally in the tenth.

The Yankees made sure of staying on top of the American league standing for another day when they beat St. Louis, 7 to 5, and evened the series.

Back of Lefty Grove's great pitching the Athletics coasted to victory over the down-trodden Cleveland Indians, 7 to 1.

Chicago and Boston had an even break in a double-header. The White Sox won the first 7 to 1, while Boston won a 2 to 0 shutout in the nightcap.

Washington took the second game of the series with Detroit, 11 to 7.

BIG 10 COACHES MEET TO INTERPRET RULES

Madison — (AP) — General accord with football rule interpretation laid down by the national rules committee was expressed by football coaches of the Western conference according to Glenn Thistlethwaite, university of Wisconsin coach, who returned Friday from a coaches meeting in Chicago.

One rule was elaborated, according to Thistlethwaite. This was the decision that the Big Ten teams not using the huddle or team shift can allow one end man on the line to shift, laterally, without the one second shift before the play.

By this decision, it means that one end, for example, may leave his position before the ball is snapped and be in motion back of the line of scrimmage when the center passes the ball.

IT MAY BE HIS YEAR

After running close for the past two years, "Biff" Hoffman, Stanford fullback and captain, hopes to make the All-American team this year.

MAY MANAGE PRO II

Hinky Baines, formerly Penn State football star, may manage the New York Giants, pro football team, this fall.

BELOIT GRID COACH FULL-FLEDGED LAWYER

Beloit — The lure of football is stronger than that of law for Campbell Dickson, the new football coach at Beloit college. Dickson spent part of the summer at the University of Chicago Law school, was graduated and passed his bar examination, but will practice football and not law for the time being at least.

Dickson was a football, basketball and track star, basketball captain during his undergraduate days at the University of Chicago which ended with his graduation in 1924. He won the conference medal in that year for high scholarship and athletic prowess.

Since then he has been assistant football, basketball and track coach at the University of Minnesota, and for three seasons, assistant football coach at the University of Chicago

The Forum was the common market-place for all of ancient Rome. Today a few crumbling columns stand as mute reminders of its former grandeur.

In our present-day complex civilization, market-places have become scattered. It is no longer possible to visit them all in a morning—or even in a day.

Advertising, instead, has become the convenient Forum of modern buyers and sellers. If you are considering the purchase of a new car, you scrutinize the automobile advertising. Or if it's a razor or a talking machine that you want, you turn again to the advertising. Here is the national market-place for merchandise.

Furthermore, as you leaf over those same pages of products, your mind is storing away for tomorrow a compact and valuable fund of information. Instinctively, you will remember those facts when you make your future purchases. Increase your store of knowledge by reading the advertisements regularly.

Our Presidents

Fiery-tempered Andrew Jackson, beloved by friends and feared by enemies, was one of the most colorful characters ever elected to the presidency of the United States. He had felt the lash of the Revolution, seeing his brother die of disease during the war, and later his mother, while she was nursing the sick upon the Charleston prison vessels.

By NEA, Through Special Permission of the Publishers of The Book of Knowledge, Copyright, 1923-28

An orphan at 16, penniless, he began to study law at Salisbury, North Carolina. At 21 he was named prosecutor of the western district of North Carolina.

When 29, Tennessee elected him representative in Congress. Here, strange to say, he was a fierce opponent of President Washington.

Jackson was a man of violent temper and carried to his death a wound received in a duel with a man named Charles Dickinson. But Hon. Thomas H. Benton writes of visiting him as Jackson sat in the twilight before a fireplace, a lamb and a child in his lap. The child had cried because the lamb was out in the cold and had begged him to bring it in. (To Be Continued)

MORE HUNTERS THAN DUCKS ON 1ST DAY OF LEGAL SEASON

But Mosquitoes Outnumber Men and Birds, and Find Foraging Good

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—Clear weather and sunshine found every duck hunter able to travel in camp late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, the first day of the season. For every duck seen there were seven hunters and for every hunter there were all of 75 mosquitoes, sportsmen declare. High water was everywhere, every water hole being a lake and every inch of swamp impassable to the hunter without a boat.
Hunters appeared in grotesque costumes, their hats draped in yards of mosquito netting, and the waxy rucks sailed high soon after the first guns roared at daybreak. George Meatz of this city hunting at the cut-off brought in two ducks, a record bag for the day. George Millard brought home one coot. Coots are less in evidence than usual and very wary. John Parfitt who spent a few hours at the cut-off returned with no bag. Giles H. Putnam with a party hunted at Putnam's and found high water in the ditch impeding to good hunting. George A. Decker on a trip north with Floyd Palmer of Chicago, in search for prairie chicken failed in reaching their destination, due to high water. The men were bound for a point beyond Wisconsin Rapids and were forced to return when they found a creek, which had cut its banks, had flooded the highway for a long distance. They spent Saturday and Sunday morning at the cut-off and were successful in bringing down a few coots. All hunters claim that hunting will prove better when frost has killed the mosquitoes.

No bones were broken. The little boy was riding in a car, accompanied by his father and a friend, near Muskegon, Mich., recently. His mother and a friend were in a car some distance ahead and the little boy, trying to locate the car in which he thought he had seen his mother, leaped upon the door which became unlatched and threw him headlong upon the concrete. He was hurried to a physician's office in Muskegon and later removed to the summer home of friends of the Wilson family at Silver beach. Internal injuries were feared at first but the boy is recovering nicely and is again able to walk. This is the second serious accident in which the little boy has figured during the last six months, the other occurring when he was severely cut by broken glass while at play.

GRID TEAM WORKING FOR CLINTONVILLE CONTEST

New London—With only a week to go, New London football players are speculating on the result of the first game of the season, to be played at Clintonville high school at Clintonville, Ill. Local players declare that the Clintonville lineup is practically the same as last year with the exception of Captain Merrill, who was lost by graduation. The Orange and Black lost two games to the local team last year. This year's team for New London high school looks promising, it is said. The men were in a car some distance ahead and the little boy, trying to locate the car in which he thought he had seen his mother, leaped upon the door which became unlatched and threw him headlong upon the concrete. He was hurried to a physician's office in Muskegon and later removed to the summer home of friends of the Wilson family at Silver beach. Internal injuries were feared at first but the boy is recovering nicely and is again able to walk. This is the second serious accident in which the little boy has figured during the last six months, the other occurring when he was severely cut by broken glass while at play.

HOMECOMING NETS $1,200 FOR LEGION

Norris-Spencer Post Looking Forward to Erection of Community Building

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—With approximately $1,200 added to their reserve fund as the net receipts of their recent homecoming and carnival, members of the Norris-Spencer post of the American Legion and its auxiliary are nearing the end of a successful year's work. The official report of the festival will be read at the next meeting of the post by Secretary D. B. Egan. Practically all bills have been paid. The members of the post worked in splendid cooperation, under the commandship of Dr. M. C. Borchard. Legionnaires who never before had taken an active part in events of the kind, interested themselves this year, and the help of outsiders was unusually good. Mistakes and pitfalls discovered by previous undertakings helped to put over the homecoming with good financial results, and the scheme of organization was worked out with smoothness.
It is hoped to make the homecoming on Labor day an annual affair, and receipts of this, together with other events of the yearly program, will go to swell a fund which is being invested carefully for future use in the erection of a suitably planned community hall, which will fill a long felt need of legionnaires and townsmen, and will become a memorial to the efforts of the organization.

VICINITY STRUCK BY SEVERE STORM

Trees, Telephone and Electric Systems Are Damaged Friday

Special to Post-Crescent
Clintonville—One of the most severe storms which ever occurred here struck Clintonville and vicinity Friday afternoon. Considerable damage was done at Marion, a village seven miles from here. Trees were torn up and electric and telephone lines were damaged. Water systems backed and caused much trouble in many of the private home and factories. The roads all around Clintonville were put into very bad shape.
The regular meeting of the Clintonville council was held Tuesday evening at the city hall. Dr. G. W. Spang appeared before the council, representing the museum board, and brought in a recommendation that nothing further be gone in the matter of establishing a museum in Clintonville at present. The board gave as its reason, that the cost of securing proper fixtures and maintenance expense was too great to take care of the museum at this time. This report was accepted by the council.
Ordinance No. 65 relating to the testing of headlights of all automobiles was introduced. The ordinance provided for the appointment of a test officer who will act as an inspector of stations to be established for the purpose of testing headlights. Anyone desiring to establish such station must comply with the state law covering this matter and it will be test officer's duty to see that the proper inspection is made. Licenses granted, and proper certificates issued after tests have been made.
The ordinance also provides that all cars must have lights tested if deemed necessary by the test officers within a period of five days after notice is given, and a fine of from $5 to $100 or imprisonment from three days to three months, or both may be made for failure to comply with the regulations of the ordinance. Plans were also brought to the attention of the council for having a bridge over the dam on Clinton-ave and City Engineer Leo Pelishek is drawing up plans and will furnish an estimate of the probable cost of such a venture.

Tree surgeons have been busy the past week trimming and doctoring up the trees around the Hotel Marion. The maples, many of them injured by past storms were in danger of dying out because of severe wounds and improper trimming. So a very remarkable work is being done these days in saving trees, an instance of which was exemplified in saving one of the trees the trunk of which was already largely destroyed by worms and rot. The entire inside of the large hole in the trunk was cleaned out and then cemented shut. The cement was laid in blocks with tar paper between to allow for expansion and contraction and swaying of the tree.

Where Rockford Fliers Landed

Making their way over a 50-mile stretch of icy Greenland waste, the Rockford-to-Greenland fliers, Bert Hassell and Parker Cramer, were saved when they found a party of University of Michigan's Greenland expedition near Mount Evans. The expedition, in the far north seeking the causes of storms and other weather data, took Hassell and Cramer to Mount Evans Observatory. A picture of the Michigan men at work, giving an idea of the kind of "landing field" the Rockford, Ill. fliers had, is shown above, with a map of the region where they landed, and Professor W. H. Hobbs, head of the university expedition, whose radio dispatch told the world of the fliers' safety after hope had practically been abandoned.

ASK FULL TIME HEALTH OFFICERS FOR COUNTIES

Madison—(AP)—Renewed demand for a law allowing counties to employ full-time county health officers was voiced by the state board of health in its last Quarterly Bulletin. The proposal has been before three legislatures. As the proposal was to make such employment optional with any county, the board declared there is no good reason why Wisconsin should be denied such a law.

This bill was unanimously endorsed by the 1927 state conference of health officers at Eau Claire, and is expected to be offered again in the 1929 legislature.

Listing 33 states in which county health officers are employed, and discussing success and economy of the system elsewhere, the bulletin continued:

"It is high time the citizens of Wisconsin aroused themselves at least to the point of investigating in other states, Wisconsin is a leader in many fields. Why should we trail other states in this respect?"

"Acting not only as a guard against epidemic disease, the full-time health officer can be a powerful educational force in bringing before the public the latest scientific discoveries in the field of preventive medicine."

"It is difficult for many people to conceive that it is possible to save money to a county by spending money on prevention."

GROUP SAYS MACHINES WON'T REPLACE MEN

Madison—(AP)—You look at the almost human operation of a modern machine, and say "Will not modern inventions in machinery and improved efficiency in factory management soon result in increased unemployment?" The Wisconsin Manufacturers' association says the answer to your question is "no."

A committee of the association has found that increased consumption of goods has kept pace with growth in population and in income. The committee:

"Luxuries of yesterday are necessities of tomorrow. When the best means to increase the economic welfare of Wisconsin is considered, it can be recognized that there is no limit to the increase in demand for factory products, therefore, the growth of industry in our state is possible and much to be desired."

The total number of factory workers in Wisconsin has increased from 142,676 in the year 1900 to 247,341 in the year 1925, an increase of about 74 per cent over 1900. This increase shows the trend in industrial growth and partly explains the increase in the population of cities as compared with rural population.

"The movement from the farm to the city need not be deplored so long as agricultural production increases."

Well and Hearty After 10 Years

"Dreco Ended My Pain and Made Me Feel Just Like a New Man," Says Mr. Van Lone
Just recently Mr. Chris. Van Lone, a well-known millman at the Wright Rubber Co., who makes his home at 1311 Rapids Drive, Racine, Wis., related the following experience with Dreco. He says:

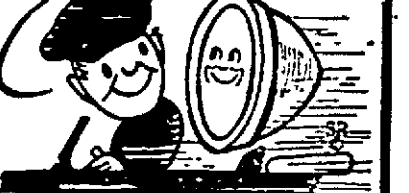

"I haven't enjoyed good health for the past 10 years in spite of spending a small fortune trying to get relief."

"Much of my suffering was caused by my stomach. No matter how carefully I selected my food I was liable to suffer afterwards. I was always constipated and couldn't sleep soundly at night. In addition to those troubles I also suffered a great deal with severe pains in my limbs. 'Nothing I took helped me until I started on the Dreco treatment but this grand remedy seemed to be just made for me and now I feel better than in years. This new medicine has ended all the pains in my stomach and limbs and has rejuvenated my entire system. I can sincerely recommend it to everyone.'"

The Dreco mentioned above is a root and herb preparation of unusual merit. It is very effective in toning up the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and ending suffering and pain. Try it and you'll recommend it, too. Sold by Schlitz Bros. Drug Store.

RACKETEERS FROM CHICAGO OPEN NEW ST. LOUIS "OFFICE"

43 Bombings Follow Entry 16 Months Ago in City Dubbed "Second Chicago"

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the sixth of a series of articles on racketeering by James P. Kirby, staff writer for the Post-Crescent and NEA Service and tells the story of St. Louis. Tomorrow, Kirby will tell of conditions in Detroit.

BY JAMES P. KIRBY
St. Louis—Racketeers from Chicago have invaded this city and established affiliations with local gangsters and gunmen. This is evidenced by the 43 bombings in St. Louis city and county within the last 16 months, involving dry cleaning and other industries.

It is further evidenced by the declaration recently at a meeting called to "organize" that industry, at which it was pointed out by a speaker that Chicago methods were eminently successful.

"CHICAGO TALENT"
It is further evidenced by the fact that the confession made recently by a prominent St. Louis gangster flatly stated that Chicago talent had been at work in the city, and had been affiliated with one of the more notorious gangs.

Thus appears further evidence of the enterprise of the Chicago racketeer in branching out to other cities where laxity in the criminal prosecuting machinery appears to promise him a foothold.

If evidence were needed of the extent of the operations of the racketeer, it is forthcoming in the declaration of Judge Jerry Mulloy of the circuit court, whose home has been under guard for months because of the violence of his denunciations of the racketeer.

"At least 75 per cent of the men carrying badgers are gangsters robbing our people under the guise of law," the judge declared.

Laxity in the law enforcement machinery has been a common place here, according to native St. Louisans. It was this same laxity which, in the recent primary election, caused the bar association to vote 4 to 1 against the present incumbent in the prosecutor's office, but who nevertheless was renominated.

Stories of the conditions in St. Louis have occupied the front pages of the newspapers for weeks. They include the declaration by a member of the board of police commissioners that he was offered $100,000 by a notorious character to act as counsel and procure bond for certain members of the gang; the statement by the same gangster that he paid $15,700 "to get a square deal in the prosecuting attorney's office."

No action followed the charges, however, except a grand jury investigation, initiated by the prosecuting attorney and directed by his principal assistant. No one was indicted.

St. Louis newspapers, editorially and in their news columns, described their city as "A Second Chicago."

FROM WHOLESALE DOWN
The cleaning and dyeing industry in St. Louis, as in other cities, appears to provide the principal point of entrance for what follows in other industries. With the preliminaries of the organization under way, including the wholesaler, the employers and the small retail shop owners, the racketeer began his methods of extortion, followed by bombs for those who were recalcitrant.

An "initiation fee" of $2,000 and 10 per cent of the annual gross by the racket upon one wholesaler. He refused and has since suffered bombings, mysterious fires, burned trucks and other outrages.

And, although St. Louis business men have suffered 43 bombings at an estimated damage of $90,000, there have been no convictions. Nor have the bombings been confined to the dry cleaning industry alone. They include shoe stores, drug stores, fruit and vegetable stores, automobile accessories and similar small retail businesses.

It is significant that the principal person involved in the "organizing" activities in the dry cleaning line has been previously arrested 109 times, although never convicted of crime.

During the hearing of an injunction suit brought by one dry cleaning firm in federal court to restrain interference with its business, it developed that one of the organizers who was taken into custody upon his arrival from Chicago, had in his possession the formula for constructing bombs.

In St. Louis, as in Chicago, it has been established that there exist unusual and unaccountable relationships between certain employers and the so-called union, again in contrast with the divisions in the ordinary labor organization, between capital and labor.

The Central Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis, through its official publication, St. Louis Labor, has carried numerous declarations denouncing racketeering methods. It avers:

"The success and ultimate victory of trade union movements depend upon lawful methods and peaceful means, based on intelligent action."

It is rather suspicious that most of these denunciations and similar crimes in St. Louis have been committed at a time when the industrial depression and business stagnation have caused rather serious unemployment, and when the so-called open shop employers and enemies of the labor movement have been doing their utmost to create an anti-labor spirit in the minds of the public and thereby discredit and injure the good name of the trade union movement."

TOMORROW: The Racketeer in Detroit.
